“oh boy this story was unfortunately a big mess. i was really determined to finish this book even though there were so many times that i wanted to DNF. I won’t go into plot stuff even though there were so many confusing elements, because i just hashed this out with my sister and if i have to rewrite all my grievances i might explode. i noticed the further along i got, the less polished and edited it seemed (i know that might be hard to believe that it could get worse from the beginning of the book), not with typos but with sentence structure and repeated words examples “I’m a training historian in training,” and “Chase slowly turned towards me. My body froze as Chase turned slowly towards me.” to name a couple that i remember off the top of my head. also the characters all have the same voice, no one is unique, they all sound like sassy teens, even the adults, except for scorpios who talk so so stupidly like i would not call how they sound “formal” it was just super lame. unfortunately overall i really didn’t like this one, i probably have more i could talk about, but honestly im drained from the read and i want it to be done. i will probably come back to read the revised edition whenever that comes out to hopefully see a better story, because i do think there could be
